THE DREYFUS AFFAIR.

EVIDENCE BEFORE THE COURT OF CASSATION.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

Paris, April 11.—The Eclair this morning publishes the deposition of Senator Trarieux, made before the Court of Cassation in the Dreyfus revision proceeding, in the course of which M. Trarieux said that Count Torielli-Brusati di Vorganio, the Italian ambassador to France, told him when the Matin printed a facsimile of the bordereau that it was a flash-light reproduction; that the documents mentioned had been given to the German attaché by a person other than Dreyfus, and that handwriting of the bordereau was that of the officer who gave the documents to the attaché. Comparison, he said, would be easy, as the attaché possessed voluminous correspondence of that officer.

Count Torielli further told him that an attaché of the Italian embassy showed him (the Ambassador) a letter from the German attaché, stating this and asserting that he did not know Dreyfus, and attributing to Count Esterhazy the act for which the court-martial had wrongly found Dreyfus guilty.

A WITNESS HANGS HIMSELF.

St. Quentin, France, April 11.—Lorimier (not Lorillier), the sergeant-major of artillery and former secretary of the late Lieutenant Colonel Henry, who committed suicide on Monday evening here, had been suffering from melancholia since he heard of the suicide of Lieutenant Colonel Henry in the fortress of Mont Valerien, Paris, in August last. The sergeant-major had not retired from the army, as at first announced, but was preparing to return to his regiment on Saturday next. He received a couple of letters yesterday, and after reading them he went into a stable and hanged himself.

THE QUAYS ON TRIAL

are. Mr. Quay's lawyers will next take up the memorandum books and letters belonging to Hopkins and oppose their consideration as valid testimony.

Previous to the presentation of the bank books by Mr. Rothermel, the examination of Receiver Barlow was concluded and ex-Judge James Gay Gordon, who, the adherents of Senator Quay declare, is responsible for what for them the conspiracy against their favorite gave testimony in corroboration and explanation of Mr. Barlow's statement.

A SENSATION.

Mr. Barlow created a sensation by the statement that he had broken open the dead cashier's desk and taken therefrom the books and letters appertaining to the Quay trial at the behest of a mysterious informant who spoke to him over the telephone from Harrisburg and stated that there was a plot on foot to steal the compromising documents that night. He was, he said, never able to learn who his mysterious friend was. The fact was gleaned from Mr. Barlow that the bank books and letters were practically in the control of Judge Gordon from April until September of last year. He considered this proper, as Judge Gordon was the confidential advisor of President McManes, of the bank.

JUDGE GORDON TESTIFIES.

Judge Gordon gave his testimony in a quiet, convincing manner. He deprecated the stories of conspiracy against Quay that has been persistently put in circulation, and frankly answered every question asked regarding the use he made of the papers while he had them. He admitted that they had been photographed at his suggestion, but merely for purposes of safety in the event of the originals being destroyed. He also admitted showing them to the late Martin, the leader of the anti-Quay faction, to John Wanamaker, a bitter opponent of Senator Quay, and to others, including a partial exhibition of letters to James M. Guffey, the Democratic leader of this State, but not in the manner hinted at by the defense.

MANY QUEER STORIES.

Washington, D. C., April 11.—The incoming mails from Manila bring many queer stories of events connected with the war now in progress between the United States troops and the insurgents. When MacArthur led the first onslaught to the north upon the insurgent stronghold the United States military commanders were amazed at the extent of the looting practiced by the non-combatants. The Chinese took a large part in this looting, beginning it before the retreating insurgent forces were fairly out of a town. They apparently had no conception of the enormity of their offense, and it had been reluctantly concluded to shoot some of these Chinese looters for the sake of example when a young officer cut off the queues of a half dozen Chinamen, who had been taken red handed. The looting stopped and the Chinese disappeared as if by magic from the whole province.

SUPERINTENDENT DAY WINS.

DEFEATS NORTH CAROLINA LEGISLATURE IN COURT.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 11.—The Supreme Court of North Carolina to-day handed down its decision in the case of the State Prison vs. W. H. Day, deciding in favor of Day.

This suit was brought to test the validity of an act of the recent Legislature, abolishing the office of Superintendent of the Penitentiary and putting the management of that institution in the control of an executive board of three men.

The court held that it is not competent for the Legislature to oust an incumbent of an office and then continue the office, with substantially the same duties imposed, and the fact that the duties to be performed are transferred to three persons instead of one makes no difference. This rule applies to offices created by the constitution as well as those created by statute. The office of Superintendent of the Penitentiary is not a constitutional office.

The opinion is written by Justice Montgomery, Justice Furches concurring and Justice Walter Clark dissenting. It not only decides this case, but it will also have the effect of keeping in office several other officials whom the legislature attempted to turn out.

It is reported to-night that all the Democratic members of the Penitentiary Board will resign, throwing back on Superintendent Day and the Republicans, the entire responsibility for the management of the institution. It is over $200,000 in debt, and the appropriation to pay this indebtedness was made conditional on the retirement of Day from its management.

A Forthcoming Marriage.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

New York, April 11.—James Lindsay Gordon, assistant District Attorney, is to be married on April 20th, to Miss Adele Schleicher, daughter of Isaac Schleicher, a wealthy manufacturer of Philadelphia. Mr. Gordon is 33 years old, and an ex-member of the Virginia Senate. He is a grandson of General William F. Gordon, who represented Virginia in Congress.

When you use G. O. Taylor Whiskies you use the highest type of medicinal whiskies in existence.

A stimulant for use in the sick room, such as the G. O. Taylor brand, which is sold by more family druggists and prescribed by physicians more than any other brand of whiskey sold in competition with it, is safe to stand by.

An old distiller caught adulterating his rum from the pump, by way of and apology said: "Water never hurt anybody." His statement was not wholly true, for much disease, suffering and lingering illness has been traced to the use of impure water.

Physicians prescribe "G. O. T." for lung and throat troubles, as a flesh producer, with eggs and milk, after a lingering sickness. Licensed dealers everywhere will sell you G. O. Taylor Whiskey, if you insist on having it.

It is not sold in bulk. Look for our firm's signature over the cork and on the label.
